

A Comprehensive Study on PDF Why Nobody Reads What They Download

Abstract

This groundbreaking study investigates the universal human behavior of downloading PDFs with full intention to read them only to let them rot in the "Downloads" folder for eternity. Through a series of highly unscientific methods, including staring at our own unread PDFs in shame, we conclude that the average PDF has a higher chance of being forwarded to another unsuspecting victim than actually being opened.

Our research also explores the psychological effects of hoarding academic papers, manuals, and eBooks, revealing that PDFs are not merely documents but digital trophies -proof that we once had intellectual ambition. We propose a revolutionary solution: a browser extension that consume any PDF you download, saving you from ever opening it.
